IT GOES TO CARTER

The Bright Young Leader of Montana

IS MADE NATIONAL CHAIRMAN

To Lead the Host of Republicans on a Splendid Victory in November-His Record.

Naw York, July 16 .- The national executive committee of the republican party met at the Fifth Avenue hotel at Il o'clock this forenoon to elect a chairman to succeed William J. Campbell, whose resignation was read and accepted at this meeting. The members of the committee who arrived last night, together with Secretary Rusk, Senator Sawyer and other friends of the administration, labored with Henry C. Payne to get him to consent to take the position, but to no effect. Mr. Payne said his only reasons for not accepting the chairmanship were business ones. The meeting of the committee was called to order by Secretary Carter, and William A. Sutherland of Rochester, N. Y., was temporary chairman. Whitelaw Beid was called in consultation by the committee and an adjourment was taken about I o'clock for two hours. After the adjournment the committee and some of its advisors went to the Hoffman house cafe and ordered lunch. When lunch was over everybody was at sea and dis-

This decision being reached the conference returned to the Fifth Avenue hotel and went into the committee room to place the official stamp on the solution of the chairmanship puzzle. The news spread like fire, and with it the announcement that Mr. Carter's place would be filled oy Chris Magee. This proved to be premature, however. At 3:30, when the committee reassembled, Mr. Carter was not present, being at the time in the room occupied in consulta-tion with Whitelaw Reid. After Chairman Sutherland had called the meeting to order. Mr. Clarkson arose meeting to order. Mr. Clarkson arose and made the nomination of Mr. Carter. The nomination was warmly seconded by Mr. Payne, and unammously carried. The treasurer, Cornelius N. Blies, was appointed to notify Mr. Carter of his nomination. In accepting the position Mr. Carter made the fol-

Mr. Carter's Speech.

Gentlemen of the National Commitdieer, Mr. Sutherland, has well said, otherr, Mr. Sutherland, has well said, it is a task of great magnitude, a battle amounting to little less than a hand-to-hand struggle with forces equally organized to grasp the powers of government from the republican party. We have passed into the history of the world beyond the time when men have overthrown governments for the sake of power, but the distance between the time of that past age and the present is not vesy great. The fact that the struggle does not involve death is only a mitigation of the severity of the conrest upon which we are about to enter.

From these suggestions it may be inferred that I appreciate in some degree at least the nature of the responsibility at hand and the character of the effort necessary to be put forth. I would shrink from the task as a hopeless struggle were calch the house. The world's forth the house the took occasion to make a silver speech. The very language of the senate amendment, subsidiary silver coins abraded below the limit of tolerance was a delusion and a snare, and was a trap set to necessary to be put forth. I would shrink from the task as a hopeless struggle were it not for the fact that about the chairman of this committee primarily will he twelve shrewd, intelligent and cap-able members of the committee itself, while supporting the organization

In addition to this the league of clubs and other aggressive forces, supplemented to the state organizations of party, and the county and district orthem, will make up a mighty force of carnest, encere men, actuated by lofty motives and degrous of perpetuating in their purity the principles of the republican party. While the task to be performed in great, an aggregation of working leaders where hearts and souls are with the republican party gives courage and confidence to all. This committee will have perfected its organization before its final adjournment today. Relying patriction of the American people, we can, supported by an excuest effort confidently expect to meet with deor red victory in November. I can not promise each and all the members of this committee and the great body of the republican party whom you represent an earnest, tireless effort to prove worthy of this great trust. You have given me your confidence, and of your susport I have no doubt. shall endeavor to prove worthy of it and to labor with you early, late and all the time to bring about the victory to which we are entitled. I thank you, gentlemen, for the boner you have bestowed and await your pleasure.

He arrived in Washington from Montana, whither he went im-mediately to the Minneapolis conven-

He said he could not consent to be elected chairman without an opportunity to consider the matter fully. It was held by many members of the committee that under the rules it was necessary to choose a chairman from among the body of the committee membership and Mr. Carter was not a member, and in view of his personal objections to taking the place he was finally permitted to withdraw his name. Even then, however, it was expected of him that he should serve as secretary but in electing him to the chairmanship the committee achieved one of its earliest plans. When Mr. Carter was asked if the acceptance of the chairmanship entailed the resignation of his position in the land office he replied: "I shall resign at all events." Chairman Carter sign at all events." Chairman Carter will on Monday announce the commit-tee on headquarters and probably the advisory committee. ments Under Discussion. Washington, July 16 .- The listless attention paid by members to the debate in the house today on the proposition giving the world's fair $5,000,000 in souvenir silver and closing the gates on Sunday, is sufficient evidence that congressmen are growing weary of the session and are auxious to adjourn. No more than one hundred members were present at any time today. The advocates of the measure under discussion met with some opposition, and it is sufficiently evident now that there is a strong sentiment against the amendment. It was opposed today by Mr. Hooker (democrat), Mississippi; Mr. Covert (democrat), New York; Mr. Bland (democrat), Missouri; Wheeler (democrat), Alabama; Kyle (democrat), Mississippi; Mr. Liv-Kyle (democrat), Mississippi; Mr. Livingstone (democrat), Georgia; Mr. Moses (democrat), Georgia. His Own Way-Notwithstanding His Majority He Will Be Placed in Embarrassing Situations.

Lossos, July 16 .- Though Mr. Gladstone has a clear majority it is of such a mixed character that it is still doubtful whether he can force home rule through. If such a bill should pass the house of commons it will certainly be thrown out by the house of lords. sustained as it would be by a majority of the liberal members of the house of commons. There is every indication, however, that Mr. Gladstone, whatever the result, will prepare and push a home rule bill. He intends while premier to devote himself wholly to home rule and other legislation, leaving the foreign and domest affairs of the empire apart from such legislation to his colleagues. Mr. Giadstone will be the leader of his party in the house in this respect, having the advantage of Lord Salisbury, who has been obliged to entrust the leadership to a lieutenant. For chief opponent Mr. Giadstone will have Mr. Balfour, who is said to be aching for the opportunity to assail Gladstone from the opposition benenes. The report that Lord Salisbury would retain office until a vote of want of confidence should be passed is without foundation. The conservatives are rather anxious to enjoy the spectacle of Mr. Giadstone's conten-tion with his meagre and doubtful majority of labor men, anti-Parnellites An Embarrasing Position

They are confident that the liberal eader will be in the most embarrassed to give him every opportunity to get there. Lord Roseberry will in all prob-ability have the direction of foreign afability have the direction of foreign af-fairs. Mr. Gladstone could make no selection more satisfactory to the gen-eral public regardless of party distinc-tion. There is strong faith of Rose-berry's devotion to the foreign inter-ests of the empire and a confidence that he would be a vigilant sentinel against the aggressions of Russia. His connection with the Rothschilds is an assurance that he would not be favor-ably inclined to Russian blandishments, and also an assurance that he would lic opinion, being entirely deserted. the conservative administration, would not be seriously departed from. Good for the Nationalists. If it is true, as reported, that the Right Hon. George Shaw-Lefevre is to be chief secretary for Ireland, then the Irish nationalists themselves could not have made a choice more satisfactory to themselves. Indeed it is more than probable that Mr. Shaw-Lefevre was suggested by Justin McCarthy at the conference with Mr. Gladstone, For Mr. Shaw-Lefevre himself it is difficult to see how the situation can be otherwise than embarrassing. He has been an earnest, almost an enthusiastic champion of the evicted tenants and assailant of the Irish landlords. He has conducted bitter controversies with his pen and on the platform, going farther than any other Englishman of prominence in upholding the methods of the plan of campaign and the utterances which brought Irish leaders to

As chief secretary for Ireland he will have existing laws to administer until they are repealed, and he can enforce then only by eating his own words. On the other hand, if he gives free reign to the Irish extremists and permits the tenants to play ducks and drakes with the property of the landlords he will expose himself and Mr. Gladstone to severe criticism on the part of the conservatives. Altogether, the lot of Mr. Shaw-Lefevre, like that of the police-man in the "Pirates of Penzance," and for very similar reasons, will not be a

The victory of Mr. Gladstone is re-garded with considerable apprehension in Berlin, Vienna and Rome. Since the fall of Bismarck and his English baiting policy and the renewal of the triple alliance the three peace powers port of Great Britain. This moral supof the triple alliance to the alliance was less apparent. Even the extreme tive of a strong foreign policy which is most likely to hold back Russia in Egypt, France, in Africa and both on the continent. Thus the Vossische Zeitung savs: "In the election contest was no question of the liberaham and conservatism. The Salisbury cabinet while in office adopted no measure which in principle conflicted with liber-alism. The deteat of Gladstone would not have been the defeat of liberalism the now satisfactory foreign relations of the empire.

Czar in Kiel. Early in the morning, a few days agothe guards in the park of Castle Fred, ensburg saw a door leading to the gar-den burst open and the Czar shouling and gesticulating ran out in slippers and shirt sleeves. An attempt at as-sassination was the immediate conclu-sion and the guards ran to rescue, half of them hastening to the Czar's spartment. The Czar explained to the as-tonished guards that as he sat at his window he saw the dogs chase the cat, the favorite pet of King Christian, into a corner, and fearing delay would be fatal, ran to the rescue.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 16 .- There was an exciting scene on the river this afternoon. The steamer Pilgrim and the small steamer Dixie came together with a crash at the foot of Perry street Pilgrim were stopped at once and the vessels separated. The Dixie gave a lurch and sink almost immediately. The crew of the tug International and several people on the dock saw the actug reached the tug in a very few min-utes and with the assistance of small boats from the Pilgrim and from the boat house on the shore succeeded in rescuing the passengers and crew of the sunken boat. There were twenty passengers and a crew of five men on the Dixie who jumped hurriedly into the water, where they managed to sustain themselves with such floats and pieces of wreck as they could catch, until they were picked up. He at once assumed a threatening air and began to abuse Mr. Jenkins with oaths and vile epithets. Mr. Jenkins ordered him from order, when the tramp, who was a big, vigorous man, seized Mr. Jenkins and threw him on the floor and proceeded to beat him. Attracted by the noise the son of the county clerk ran in from an adjoining room, and seeing how it fared with Mr. Jenkins, came to the rescue and with the assistance of several of the court officials succeeded in pulling the tramp off Mr. Jenkins. ## THEY LAUGH AT IT

The Homestead Men Will Not Accept

CARNEGIE'S & CO.'S INVITATION

HOMESTEAD, July 16 .- The rec ment in the Homestoad works of an offer by the company to allow them to return to their old positions on Monday next, and the posted notices that appli-cations for employment would be re-ceived from the old men, created a great deal of comment in Homestead among all classes of workmen. Nearly everybody agrees that it is a most dipomatic move on the part of the Carne gie company, and will have some effect on the mon concerned. The leaders ments of the mill are too loyal in their allegiance to the cause to return to work in the present circumstances. The greatest influence that will bear against the result hoped for by the Can-negie company is the presence of a military guard at the works. The outside workmen and the foremen who refused to work under guard showed this.

They Will Not Beture. "These notices mean nothing," said Hugh O'Donnell today, when a reporter for the United Press asked him about the matter. "Similar notices have been received before and the men laughed at them. This light has just commenced. Our mea will never give in after such a short struggle. The strike of '82 occurred in the dead of whiter, and when the men were imwinter, and when the men were im-portuned to return to work they then portuned to return to work they then refused to do so, although some of them were without clothing or means of subsistence. Men who were obliged to tie rigs about their feet because to be rigs about their feet because they did not have any foot gear were quite as firm in their determination to stay out until the fight ended as were those better provided. The company cannot start these mills with any other workers than those right here in Homestead. Those notices prove it. They might send men from their other mills to work the local plant, but even these men have not enough experience and knowledge in the technical work required to be able to do anything successfully. It is a fight to the end and the Carnegie company will lose."

A copy of the notice posted this afternoon, inviting applications for work, was taken to the advisory committee while it was in session. Some of the men laughed at it and said it was "Frick's way of doing business." All the men of the committee who were asded concerning the effect of the notice said it would fail to accomplish what the committy horsed for. Men. what the company hoped for they said, would not give up the to the end and refuse to be tempted by any offers the company might make short of a concession of the demands of the Amaigamated association. A copy of the notice taken to the advasory committee was one of those given to the press. This was compared with the printed notices and was found that in the latter the last paragraph of the copy published in the newspapers was omitted. Much comment was caused by the omitted paragraph, which read the omitted paragraph, which read follows:

the employes of the works and after non-compliance with this the place will be filled with non-union men."

"The omission of this section from the posted notices shows the weakness of the company," said one of the strike leaders. "Its managers at first thought that reference to non-union men would frighten us, but mature consideration showed them that we would see the showed them that we would see the ruse for the Carnegie company has enough regard for the intelligence of its employes to know that they are aware that non-union men cannot eperate the Homestead plant. The omission is a confession of the company's weakness. You may be sure the notice will fail of its purpose." Other leaders expressed in substance the same sentent. An effort was made by a reporter for the United Frees tonight to expressed in substance the same writement. An effort was made by a reporter for the United Frees tonight to see Superintendent Fotter at the Homestead mills but the watchman at the gates said Mr. Fotter had given him strict orders to exclude reporters. Union men from Scranton and other Penneyivama towns arrived in town today and informed the advisory committee that Superintendent Potter had agents in Scranton and throughout the etate importuning men to work in the Homestead plant. According to the statements made by these men the efforts of Mr. Potter's agents have not been successful. The rifles of the troops on guard were loaded today for the first time since the military took possession of the town, and the guard of soldiers inside of the mili has been increased. Another foreman in the Carnegie miliaquit work today and giaddened the hearts of the strikers by appearing among them. He had charge of a ragging gang, and was an old employe of the company.
